how we work with you

Our aim is to produce for you a memorable photographic story of your wedding that you will treasure forever. Our clients tell us that we are friendly and approachable. We always treat you and your guests as individuals. You'll find we don't take 'standard pictures'.

clear pricing

At CameraCat, you will always know where you are with our pricing structure. There are no hidden charges, no pressure sales and you can be assured that we will have your interests at heart from start to finish. However, we don't want to cramp your style, so if you find that you want to add further images and pages to your album at the last minute, that's no problem.

an all inclusive service

Initial Consultation

It all starts with a no-obligation, get to know you, chat at our Studio & Gallery in Northop. This is where we can get to know just exactly what you are looking for in your Wedding Photography. We'll show you how we can achieve it for you and write a personalised quotation for you.

Pre-wedding planning

This all important planning session usually takes place a few weeks before your big day. We discuss the day's schedule with you in detail and make sure we can cover everything you want. We note your timetable, any special photographic requests, your 'must haves', fun pictures and your likes and dislikes.

Full Photography on the day

On your day, you will have the full, undivided attention of Susan and Nigel. Both will be taking photographs. We will record events as the bride prepares, then photograph the bridegroom, ushers, bestman, the arrival of guests, the ceremony itself where permitted, the family groups and portraits of the happy couple, and most importantly the details of the wedding that are so often forgotten. We will also take care to capture the fun and laughter images that can add so much to your memories.

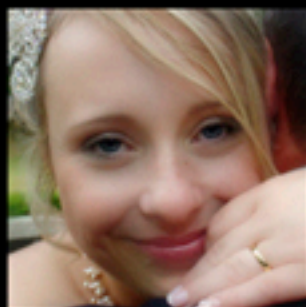

Private viewing

When you return from your honeymoon, we'll invite you to a special viewing of your wedding images on widescreen TV. Included with our album packages will be a printed preview book for you to keep and you will take away with you a boxed DVD slideshow of your wedding images which you can watch with family and friends at your leisure.

Production of your unique wedding book

We have carefully selected and use only the best quality albums from around the globe. Albums are produced as far afield as Australia and Italy. This gives you the benefits of the latest design technology. Each wedding book we produce is unique, a one-off creation hand-made to your own individual requirements.

Dear Susan & Nigel

Just a note to say thank you for taking the photos for our special day. You really put us at ease and added to the occasion. The DVD and photobook are both fantastic and we really cannot recommend you highly enough.

Thanks Again.

With love from Lydia and Mark

Dear Susan & Nigel

Having just viewed the photographs what can we say - fabulous, just as we knew they were going to be.

From the moment we met you, you made us feel at ease. From then on you made everything run so smoothly, from getting ready until the first dance, you were so professional, friendly and efficient. By the end of the day we felt we had known you for ages!

Thank you once again, we wouldn't hesitate to recommend you, and the photos are just...wow.
